BIO

Mohanna joined Reo Group with a wealth of industry experience, enabling her to easily see things from the perspective of her clients. Drawing on 10 years as a sales professional, Mohanna quickly understands the strategy of the businesses she partners with, anticipating their needs and adding value throughout the process.

Following her degree at Sydney University, Mohanna went on to complete an HR qualification at RMIT, which has been an excellent foundation in building successful teams throughout her career. Her time working in the travel industry built on this foundation, providing a deep understanding of people from all cultures and honing her communication skills that are an enormous strength in her role as a recruiter.

Mohanna is driven by the power of people to create change and value within a business, and for themselves personally, and is passionate about leading change for people, through people. She provides an essential link in matching amazing people to thriving businesses.

When you partner with Mohanna you have a dedicated, industry trained professional with an outstanding ability to listen to and interpret your needs. Friendly and approachable, she prioritises cultural fit alongside technical abilities for a role and is adept at drawing out the competencies of candidates to ensure the right match for your team.
