BIO

Nathan is a passionate people person who takes a measured, compassionate and understanding approach to recruitment. His natural interpersonal skills are being further refined through his studies for a Bachelor of Business (Human Resource Management), which sit in tandem with his role as a Reo Group Search Partner.

His positive attitude and composure under pressure allow Nathan to quickly understand the challenges of the client and execute on a mandate, with his accountability and enthusiasm for helping delivering strong results for his partners in the finance and accounting space.

Nathan's approachability and his drive to help others realise their goals make him a trusted advisor for candidates and his attention to detail enables him to ensure they are fully informed and prepared before a shortlist is presented.

When you partner with Nathan you are guaranteed a positive, people-first approach, alongside a unwavering desire to find the right candidate for the role.
