BIO

Meg specialises in temporary recruitment across qualified finance, covering roles such as Commercial Analysts, Management Accountants, Financial Accountants and Assistant Accountants.

She began her journey in recruitment following a 10-year career leading high performing teams in the health sector. Her comprehensive operational management experience gives Meg a deep understanding of the impact of talent on organisational performance and the ability to easily see challenges through the eyes of her client.

Drawing on her strong interpersonal skills and taking a measured approach, Meg is quick to understand the needs of the organisations she partners with, enabling her to present candidates that suit the role and culture of the business. She easily balances a need for urgency with a thorough and detailed process, tailoring her approach to each unique situation and delivering strong outcomes.

In her time at Reo Group, Meg has proven her ability to build comprehensive and thriving teams time and time again, including assisting one of our leading global FMCG clients in building a business analyst project team to successfully develop a 15-20-year forecast.

Meg's approachability and 'can-do' attitude make her a trusted partner to both clients and candidates in the finance, accounting, financial planning and analysis sectors in which she specialises. Her effervescent personality allows her to build strong, lasting relationships and trust.
